President's Report

This Should have been Voted on by All the People

The Bay Area Air Quality Management District (BAAQMD) voted on March 15, 2023, to ban natural gas water heaters and natural gas furnaces starting in 2027 and 2029. Please pass this on to everyone!!! How can an unelected Board have such POWER????? Pure insanity.

Naveen Athrappully in the Epoch Times wrote:

“Authorities from the Bay Area in San Francisco have decided to ban the use of natural gas-fired water heaters and furnaces, citing pollution and health concerns...

“...The rule amendments would apply only to new appliances and do not mandate the immediate change out of existing appliances, nor will they apply to appliances used for cooking, such as gas stoves, (...unless they need replacing...) according to a March 15 press release...

“According to new amendments, only ‘zero Nox’ water heaters can be sold or installed in the Bay Area beginning in 2027. Two years later in 2029, only zero NOx furnaces will be allowed to be sold or installed in the region. And in 2031, [the rule applies to] new commercial water heaters in the Bay Area. The cost to each homeowner will be staggering if your water heater or furnace goes out should this pass. If you happen to own rental properties, then the problem will be magnified.”

Membership Report

Well, here we are again. Another month has flown by, or should we say, washed by with all the rain we have had. Hopefully you all have been spared from any serious ramifications from the never-ending storms, and you are ready to welcome spring and the promises of Easter that the gospel - God's Emancipation Proclamation - is to be heralded far and wide. Good news is meant to be shared.

Not to compare our conservative values with the teachings of Christ, but we do have reason to believe in our principles and find similarities in truth and justice. It is important that we share them as much as possible with those around us. I continue to ask that you reach out to friends and family and invite them to join our club. Bring them to a Friday night Satellite gathering or our new Sunday dinner get togethers. All events are on our website, as well as in our newsletter and on our Facebook where people can see just what we, as a club, are doing.

Our website: www.MarinRepublicanwomen.com. You can pay dues with a credit card. Regular members $45; Associates $25.

We will be publishing our club Roster shortly. My thanks to all of you who have paid your dues so you will be included. There is still time for you to catch up on this year's dues if you have not answered our reminder phone calls/emails. I promise that we will send an autumn notification for next year's dues so that we have all annual dues collected and sent in by January.

Machiavelli's Influence on Our Constitution*

This is from a series of 22 essays all examining the ideas behind the U.S. Constitution and where those ideas originated. “Machiavellian,” usually a disparaging adjective, is derived from the cynical and manipulative character of Niccolo Machiavelli's best-known book, “The Prince.” Yet, the Founders were far more interested in Machiavelli's other works, especially his “Discourses on Livy.” The “Discourses” addressed the nature, components, and endurance of republican governments.

Four aspects of Machiavelli's work appealed to the Founders. First, they had grown up under a monarchy, so they were seeking guidance for erecting a republican government. Second, Machiavelli confirmed, restated, and updated the views of Plato, Aristotle, Polybius, and Cicero on “mixed government” – the notion that republics last longest if internal institutions balance and check each other.

Third, Machiavelli confirmed what the Founders had learned from experience: A strong judicial power was necessary to preserve liberty.

Fourth, Machiavelli was more sympathetic to popular participation in government than most earlier writers. For example, he argued that when the people at large are subject to the rule of law (i.e., not acting as a mere mob), they actually make better decisions and are more likely to preserve liberty than aristocratic “experts.”

That's why we have a somewhat “Machiavellian” constitution — in a good sense.

Voter Registration – Next is April 1

We were rained out for our plan(s) to have Voter Registration in March. So on April 1, Saturday, we will again set up a table at the Village Shopping Center near Nordstrom and welcome Republicans and Democrats to talk and register to vote, or change their party affiliation. We meet interesting people, some local and some from far away, and some that are surprised that we are there. We are there at 11AM to welcome shoppers with a smile even though some of the Democrats prefer to walk on by. It's a fun three to four hours.

We would love to have you join us and see for yourself. Please call me at 415-492-2514, which is my home phone, or my cell phone at 415-686-7170. I hope to hear from you and that you will join me and others.

Satellite Club

We had another wonderful Satellite Club get-together on March 24th at Ruth and David's home in Mill Valley. Thank you both for hosting and welcoming all of us into your home. As usual, everyone brought goodies to share, and we all enjoyed foods we might not otherwise have on hand: sushi, shrimp, different wraps, and vegetables. It is always fun to try different dishes.

And, as usual, we dissected the current state of affairs. There are always so many facets of America to ponder: the border crisis, the goodness of charter schools, the current bank dilemmas, and the awful war in the Ukraine. Sadly, none of us can solve any of these problems, but we all have ideas on how we could do it IF we were in control. We fervently hope there is an answer somewhere, somehow. Everyone does agree the current administration might not be capable of solving much. Wish we had a crystal ball to see what's coming in the future.

Our next Satellite Club will meet on April 28 at Emily and Rado's home in Corte Madera. Mark your calendars!!

Legislative Report

By Ruth Holly – MRWF Legislative reporter

The Rules of Reprobate Minds

Oppose AB-659 Cancer Prevention Act. Sponsor: Assemblywoman Aguiar-Curry (coauthor Senator Scott Wiener). California would become the first state to mandate all children be vaccinated against HPV prior to attending eighth grade in a public or private school. There is no religious or personal belief exemption, and the only medical exemption is prior serious injury from the vaccine or one of its components. The vaccine contains HPV proteins grown in yeast and an aluminum adjuvant.

There are no studies showing that the vaccine prevents cervical or other cancer. Cervical cancer is rare, with an annual US incidence of less than 8 women per 100,000. The peak age of diagnosis is between 40 and 44. The first group of recipients of the vaccine, which was introduced by Merck in 2006, are in their early 30s.

There is no long-term safety data comparing this vaccine with a saline control or comparing the aluminum adjuvant with a saline control. There are concerns that the vaccine triggers a variety of autoimmune diseases and multiple vaccine injury lawsuits have been filed.

Protect our children and parental rights. Click here to oppose this bill.

Oppose AB-223 Change of gender and sex identifier. Sponsor: Assemblyman Ward. Approved by the Judiciary Committee with the vote of Damon Connolly. Current California law allows minors with the consent of one parent or guardian to change the gender and name on their birth certificate. The minor only needs to attest to their gender identity. This bill allows the true sex and original name of the minor to be hidden from the public.

Oppose AB-443 Peace officers: determination of bias. Sponsor: Assemblyman Jackson. Approved by the Public Safety Committee. Mandates screening the social media of officer applicants for “wrong think.” This law also allows social media posts to be used as evidence of “implicit or explicit biased conduct” and to be used for officer termination. Of note, this only refers to bias against “protected classes,” that is everyone but heterosexual white men.

Gas Appliances: What is this about gas appliances and forcing you to buy something else for your home? The Bay Area Air

Quality Management District board voted to prohibit the sale or installation of gas-powered water heaters in single-family homes beginning in 2027 and to prohibit the sale or installation of gas-powered furnaces in 2029. (Assemblyman Damon Connolly sent a letter of support to the board.)

Legislative Report – Op Ed

By Katie Grimes – The California Globe

Excerpted from a speech and substack article:

“Environmental Mafia of California”

WATER:

California has a long history of squandering its precious water. 165 years ago Mark Twain famously said, “Whiskey is for drinking; water is for fighting over.”

California’s drought conditions are actually historically normal however, each of California’s droughts are billed by government and media as the driest period in the state’s recorded rainfall history. Scientists who study the Western United States’ long-term climate patterns say California has been dry for significantly longer periods — more than 200 years.

Droughts are nature’s fault; they are naturally occurring. Water shortages are the fault of government officials.

In 2014, California voters approved $7.12 billion in bonds for state water supply infrastructure projects. Of that, $2.7 billion was designated for water storage projects. But 9 years later, there are no new dams or reservoirs, or other water storage projects to collect and store California’s winter runoff. And even though we’ve had a banner year of rain and snowpack, California is technically in a drought.

The state officials in charge bow to environmentalists by allowing 50% of the state’s water to flow out to the ocean, leaving farmers and local governments to fight for the other 50%.

Marin Republican Women, Federated

The state uses about 50% percent of its developed water supply for the environment, including wild river flows, managed wetlands and wildlife preserves, habitat and water quality control for fish, and required Delta outflows, according to the Department of Water Resources. Water is diverted in times of drought and times of plenty to the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta, leaving much less for irrigation or for Californians to drink.

Of the other 50%, Approximately 10% of the remaining water is used by cities, and 40% is used by agriculture. Yet it is always urban use and agriculture forced to conserve.

In 2021, I reported: Facing Dry Year, CA State Water Board is Draining California Reservoirs

CA reservoirs were designed to provide a steady five year supply for all users, and were filled to the top in June 2019.

Where did it go? According to the California Legislative Analyst's Office, statewide water use averages 85 gallons per person per day. But it's always urban/residential water users ordered to conserve water: let lawns turn brown and landscaping die, limit showers and baths, wash clothing and dishes less frequently, and other absurd "helpful tips."

But urban water conservation doesn't ever move the needle on water "savings."

Here are some of the 2021-2022 budget solutions/water proposals, including drought proposals, from Gov. Newsom:

- $500M spent on incentives for farmers to "re-purpose" their land. Suggestions include wildlife habitat, recreation, or solar panel farms.
- $60 million spent on the State Water Efficiency and Enhancement Program to help farmers reduce irrigation water use. Farmers north and south of the delta were receiving 0% water, so it's kind of hard to reduce there, but overall our farmers are already the most productive and water efficient in the world! This proposal and the one above are the same thing, worded differently. They are about giving farmers money not to farm, with contingencies on what they must do with their land instead. It is the equivalent of being forced to "lease" land to the government. Farmers will still pay the taxes on it (unless they sell for pennies on the dollar), but the government would control the land's use. Once farmland has been intentionally dried up, the choice for desperate landowners will be to sell at a loss, keep valueless land, or take a little something for it from the government.
- $300 million spent for Sustainable Groundwater Management Act implementation. This is to make sure farmers don't turn to the water under your feet when you have been cut off from your surface supply. This helps to ensure favorable responses from farmers to "land re-purposing" in above proposals.
- $230 million spent on wildlife corridors and fish passage projects to improve the ability of wildlife to migrate safely.

"Fish

passage projects" is a clever phrase for dam removal. No new water created here. - somehow wildlife now needs the State of California to help them migrate...

- $33 million for fisheries and wildlife support to protect and conserve California's diverse ecosystems. This means empty more water from reservoirs to protect fish, without any accountability, as has been the failing status quo for 30 years.
- $200 million spent on habitat restoration (yet again!), supporting tidal wetland, floodplains, and multi-benefit flood-risk reduction projects. Seriously?? A drought package with funding for floods? This is about recreating flood plains so when they demolish our dams, the water has someplace to go.

And that is what your State Water Resources Control board has been doing.
